FRENCH SAID TO HAVE WAR MOVEMENTS UNDER WAY

Mysterious Military Conferences Going On In Paris

TO OUST BRIAND

Will Enforce Treaty With Bayonet If Reparations Fail

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 22.—It is reported that mysterious military confabulations are proceeding at Paris with a view to having everything ready against the moment for enforcing treaty rights against Germany.

These rumors persist despite an earlier despatch from Paris stating that all reports of military preparations had been formally denied by the Minister of War.

London, Feb. 22.—The proceedings of the Reparations Conference are being narrowly watched at Paris, where preparations are already beng made in political circles for the overthrow of M. Briand if he prove too conciliatory. The recent election of Ex-President Poincare as President of the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs is regarded as significant in this connection. M. Poincare, who is a most stalwart supporter of French views, is already marked out as successor to M. Briand.

London, Feb. 22.—The British, French, Italian and Japanese delegates met in conference at Downing Street this morning, and exchanged views regarding the Treaty of Sevres. They invited the Turkish delegates to attend a meeting tomorrow, but owing to the illness of Tewfik Pasha, who is confined to his bed with a chill, the Turkish problem may not be considered before Thursday.

The Belgian General Naglinse and Colonel Theunis, accompanied by a Belgian delegate attended during the conference.

It is understood that the Greek army will scarcely be able to undertake a successful adventure in Anatolia without Allied aid; and M. Briand is strongly averse to removal of the Allied embargo which, at present, prevents Greece from raising foreign loans.

London, Feb. 22.—The London Conference met this morning at half past eleven. It was decided that there should be no sitting this afternoon.

The morning sitting was taken up with various questions among them the consideration of applications from several nations who wish to be heard by the Supreme Council. For example, the President of the Conference received a letter from Emir Feysal who is desirous of stating the case for the Arabs. It was decided to hear Haddad Pasha, who for some time has represented Emir Feysal in London, on this question.

The Lithuanian Government requested a hearing on the Vilna question. In response, the President of Lithuania was informed that at present it was difficult to deal with matters not related to the main business of the Conference, but that Lithuania would be heard if time permitted.

Cohalan Wants U.S. To "Free" Canada

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 23.—Justice Cohalan of New York, a leading American Sinn Feiner, speaking at an Irish dinner at Chicago, declared that he desired to see the British Empire dismembered because it menaced the United States. He argued that the United States should insist on Great Britain's "liberating" Canada and the West Indies, as a basis on negotiations for the settlement of her debts to America. Justice Cohalan's statements are typical of the anti-Allied agitation now being carried on in America by Irish and German interests.

London, Feb. 23.—It appears that Dail Eireann (the Irish Republic) now threatens a general boycott of British goods. It has circularised the agents of British firms in Ireland, advising them to seek representation of American and Continental houses.

Woman Will Be Speaker Of House Of British Columbia Parliament

MRS. Mary Ellen Smith, of Vancouver, B.C., who has been elected Speaker of the British Columbia Parliament. She is the first woman in history to hold such an important position in a law-making body and the first woman elected to a Canadian Parliament. Mrs. Smith is the widow of a member of the House, and long has been active in the suffrage movement in Canada.

MRS. EGAN WIRES MORGAN TO HOLD CORN SHIPMENT

Better To Send Equivalent In Cash For Famine Relief, She Says

(Staff Wire to THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, Feb. 23.—Mrs. Eleanor Frances Egan today cabled the J. P. Morgan Company of New York, advising against the shipment to China of 5,000,000 bushels of corn from American farmers. She stated that the cash equivalent of the contribution will result in more effective relief work and that the best opinion in China is opposed to the shipment of the corn.

Dr. George Wilder of the American Red Cross Society, in endorsing the attitude of Mrs. Egan, has presented a protest to the American committee against the shipment, stating

1.—That the shipment of grains may result in the same scandals as those that occurred in Belgium immediately after the war.

2.—That the famine relief staff at present is not sufficient to handle the distribution of the grains in the wide districts effected by the drought and

3.—That there is plenty of cheaper grains in Manchuria and elsewhere which are more available immediately.

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Chicago, Feb. 22.—The first carload of corn, forming part of the donation from American farmers to the famine sufferers in Europe and China, will be loaded today, and despatched to New York, en route to Europe. Later car-loads will be sent to China.

Make Preparations For Famine Relief Drive In Shanghai

Fifty-two Chinese and foreign officials and representatives of various famine relief organisations and commercial bodies gathered at the headquarters of the Chinese-Foreign Famine Relief Association Tuesday afternoon to organise for the drive for funds which is to be conducted here. The date of the drive has been left to the Executive Committee but the campaign will probably begin next week.

Among those present for the conference were the Defense Commissioner, the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, Japanese Consul-General K. Yamasaki, Acting U. S. Consul-General M. F. Perkins, Messrs. Auge, T. Doremus, C. D. Dixon, Bedoni, Fredet, Grosbois and others.

General Ho Feng-ling, Defense Commissioner, adn Sir Everard Fraser, British Consul-General, were elected presidents of the General Committee of the drive after Mr. Chang King-zung and Mr. George Fitch had explained the objects Mr. C. C. Nieh, who with Mr. H. Wilden, French Con-

ALLIES DIVIDE ON DISPOSITION OF NEAR EAST ISSUE

British Favor Maintenance Of Turkish Treaty, Others Oppose

ITALY DISLIKES PACT

Greek Gains Resented—France Seeks To Escape Commitments

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 22.—The inauguration of the Conferences of London which will affect the happiness and even the existence of millions of people, has been singularly lacking in spectacular interest. The absence of big popular figures like M. Clemenceau, President Wilson and M. Venizelos probably accounted for the smallness of the crowd that awaited the arrival of the delegates.

Nevertheless, dramatic elements were not wanting in the confrontation of rivals among the numerous statesmen, officials and experts who are crowding the hotels. For instance, the Kemalists, who declare they will not recognise Tewfik Pasha's following, are staying at the Savoy, where the latter are also accommodated.

Though the Conference yesterday afternoon consisted merely of preliminary examinations, the suddenness of its opening betokened differences between Great Britain on one side, and France and Italy on the other; for the British had planned that the Conference with the Greek and Turkish representatives should open today, after a frank talk yesterday between British, French and Italian delegates, for the purpose of eliciting any concrete French or Italian proposals. The position now is that the Allies will await the Turkish and Greek views before examining their own differences.

It is known that Great Britain favors maintenance of the Turkish Treaty. Italy and France desire its revision, the former because it is resentful of Greece's gains, and the latter, among other reasons, because it desires to escape its commitments in Cilicia by arrangement with the Kemalists.

Therefore Count Sforza, General Gouraud and other French military officials were the chief catechists of the Greeks yesterday, while the British and Japanese military experts were silent; though Mr. Lloyd George also exhaustively questioned M. Callogeropoulos regarding the morale and effectiveness of the Greek Army.

British and French military officials also disagree on the subject of the Kemalists' strength, the former disbelieving Mustapha Kemal's grandiose pretensions, whereas the latter take the view that the Kemalists would be formidable opponents.

The decision taken yesterday morning regarding Upper Silesia marked a welcome compromise between the conflicting British and French views. It finally disposes of the rumors that the Allies bribed Germany to meet her reparations claims, by indefinitely postponing the plebiscite, while France's assent to the outvoters (who are mostly Germans) voting the same day as the residents is counterbalanced by Great Britain's undertaking to send troops to prevent the disturbances which the French feared.

SAYS BRITAIN BORROWED ONLY TO AID ALLIES

Chamberlain Explains How Half Billion Repayment Was Made

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 22.—Replying to a question by General Sir John Davidson in the House of Commons today, with regard to the British Government's indebtedness to the United States, concerning which, he stated, a very common misapprehension existed, Mr. Austen Chamberlain said that the five hundred million dollars which the British and French Governments had repaid last autumn was raised by them on the New York market. The United States had never loaned anything before entering the war, and Great Britain was never asked to guarantee any loans made by the United States to the Allies. He expressed the opinion that Great Britain would not have found it necessary to borrow from the United States at all if she had not had to meet the Allied calls for assistance.

English Steel In Another Price Cut

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 22.—Steel manufacturers of the Northeast coast have further cut their prices by between thirty shillings and sixty shillings per ton. The heavy rails which two months ago cost £25 now cost £18; shipplates which were then £21 now cost £17.10s., and joists are now quoted at £16 as compared with £21 two months ago.

Opposition Gains In Prussian Diet

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Feb. 22.—The Opposition has gained considerably in the elections to the Prussian Diet. Among the Conservatives, the People's Party and National Party together gained seventy-one seats. The Communists gained thirty. Nevertheless the Government coalition, comprising the majority Socialists, Democrats and Center, retain a small majority, losing twenty-nine and thirty-five and gaining three respectively.

PROSPECTS FOR UNIFICATION OF CHINA IMPROVED

Envoys From Ten Provinces In Peking For Conference

OTHERS ARE EXPECTED

If Agreement Is Reached It Will Be Submitted To Parliament

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Feb. 23.—The outlook for unification is now described as bright. Ku Ping-chun, the new Military Governor of Yunnan, is exchanging telegrams with Peking, Kweichow is expected to be subjected to another change, similar to the one that has occurred in Yunnan, while the Central Government's relations with Hunan and Szechuen are distinctly good. These four Provinces are practically in alliance.

There is still a question however, as to whether the confederation movement will be fully carried out. In response to the Government's request to the Provinces to join in a unification conference, the representatives of ten Provinces have already reached Peking, and all the other Provinces are expected to send, with the exception of Kwangtung. If the conference reaches an agreement, it will be submitted to the forthcoming Parliament, which is to open in August.

The Government is also calling a further conference with the representatives of the various Tuchuns, regarding disarmament.

As regards the readjustment of internal loans, it is stated officially that the next step will be to draft a national scheme for readjusting the financial system. For this purpose a conference of provincial representatives is being called to meet in Peking, when the Government will strive to induce the Provinces to join a disbandment and retrenchment plan.

TURK SQUABBLE HALTS PARLEYS

Conference Cannot Reconcile Claims Of Rival Delegations

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 23.—The delay in the proceedings of the Near East Conference yesterday was due not only to the illness of the Turkish Grand Vizier, but to the difficulty of reconciling the claims of the two Turkish delegations, each of which insists that it is the sole official representative of the Turkish people.

Bekirsami Bey, the head of the Nationalist delegation, declares that he is determined not to give way to either the Constantinople Government or to the Greeks. He says the Nationalists desire "a free and independent Turkish Turkey."

Meanwhile the Greek delegation is equally uncompromising, and is stated to have been gingered up by a telegram from Athens, sent on behalf of King Constantine.

It seems that, while Great Britain is not adverse to the Greek idea of cutting the Anatolian knot with the sword, the French and Italian military experts declare that a Greek advance on Angora would be madness.

LEAGUE COUNCIL TO UNITE WORLD AGAINST OPIUM

International Committee Is Named To Fight Drug Traffic

INCLUDES THREE EXPERTS

Eleven Members Will Examine Amendments To The Covenant

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Feb. 22.—The Council of the League of Nations has postponed the discussion of mandates, pending receipt of President Wilson's letter on the subject. Independently of American action, however, the question of the Mesopotamian, Palestinian and Syrian mandates has been postponed until April to give the British Colonial Secretary Mr. Winston Churchill, an opportunity of studying the questions involved.

Paris, Feb. 22.—It is understood that President Wilson's note to the League of Nations Council, which is the first action to be initiated by the United States before the Council, repeats the questions previously asked Great Britain as regards Mesopotamian oil, and protests against the allotment of the island of Yap to Japan.

In connection with President Wilson's Note officials here point out that in addition to Great Britain not having replied to the Secretary of State, Mr. Colby's Note, the United States has not received official drafts of the mandates, which, they say, should be sent here before the League approve them.

It is understood, however, that Great Britain has intimated that since the drafts have been submitted to the League, America's logical course will be to present her case before the Council. Apparently, America's action signifies that although she is not a member of the League, she will not submit without protest to an infringement of her rights.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The State Department has presented the Council of the League of Nations with the demand that all Allied and Associated nations be given equal opportunities in mandated territories.

LEAGUE PUTS OFF MANDATE ISSUE

Action Deferred Pending Receipt Of Letter From Wilson

Paris, Feb. 22.—The Council of the League of Nations has appointed a consultative committee on the opium traffic which includes representatives of Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, British, India, Japan, China, Siam and Portugal, together with three temporary members selected, in accordance with Dr. Wellington Koo's proposal, for their special knowledge of the opium question. These latter are: Sir John Jordan, for Great Britain, M. Henri Brenier, for France, and Mrs. Hamilton Wright, for the United States.

At yesterday's sitting, the Council approved the report of the Spanish delegate upon the composition of a committee to examine amendments to the League Covenant. The Council unanimously agreed that the members of that committee should have the widest political experience, and such standing as would lend to their advice great authority with public opinion, and with the Assembly of the League. It was decided that the committee consist of eleven members. Mr. Balfour will represent Great Britain upon it, and Dr. Wellington Koo China.

The Council constituted the International Blockade Commission, which will study the application of Article 16 of the League Covenant, dealing with economic blockade. The Commission will include representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

The Council decided to hold an international conference at Geneva at the end of June on the question of the exploitation of women and children.

On the motion of Mr. Balfour, the Council decided that discussion on the mandates for certain countries previously belonging to Turkey should be postponed to the next session of the Council.

SZE IN NEW YORK

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Feb. 22.—Mr. Sao-ke Alfred Sze, the new Chinese Minister to the United States, has arrived here.

Three And Five Cent Lunches For Chicago School Children

THE three and five cent lunches offered school children by the Chicago Board of Education are a great success. The "penny lunch," it is said has from forty to fifty thousand customers each school day. The system has been established at fifty-seven of Chicago's elementary schools and sales, measured in nickels and pennies, amount daily to between $4,000 and $5,000. Dr. Frank G. Bruner, of the Board of Education, is in charge of the work. "For five cents," he said, "the menu reads something like this: soup, bread, milk or cocoa, fruit and pudding. In the three cent meal the milk is dropped. And then a youngster may spend only a penny if he wants to, buying any one of these articles with it."

Third U.S. Shipping Board Steamer, The Oriental, Is Launched At Kiangnan Yard

Vast Gathering Lured By Warm Spring Sunshine Witnesses Spectacle Held By Chinese To Be Timed Auspiciously

The Oriental, another of the great cargo carriers being built here for the American Shipping Board by the Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Works, was sent down the ways with streamers flying in the presence of a vast gathering yesterday afternoon. The time of the launching was held by the Chinese to be particularly auspicious, the second day of the Lantern Festival, and close packed thousands along the shore raised a shout as the big hulk dipped into the Whangpoo and floated out upon the river.

The day was by long odds the finest the year has brought and it was probably due to the warm spring sunshine that the tender that was placed at the disposal of the guests was packed to overflowing and at the shipyard the raised platform that had been provided was inadequate to care for the throng which took possession of an adjoining shop roof. Over the heads of the gathering floated the Chinese flag and the Stars and Stripes.

EVERYTHING SHIPSHAPE

Mrs. Tseng Yi-ting, wife of Captain Tseng christened the new vessel. After she had crashed the bottle of wine against the steel prow the towering hull moved at first imperceptibly and then move swiftly down the ways to the river without the slightest hitch.

Following the launching the assembled guests were conducted to the administration building where a few brief addresses were given in the reception hall. The first of these was by Mr. H. K. Kwong, son of Captain Kwong and Secretary of the Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Works. He referred briefly to the vessels' sister ships, that have preceded the Oriental, the Mandarin and the Celestial, and to the fourth still under construction, the Cathay.

When the Mandarin was tested on its trial run ten days ago every expectation of its builders and of the shipping board representatives was surpassed. The ship attained a sea speed of 14.4 knots when it had been estimated that it would make 10.5 and in the manner in which it was handled throughout it went far beyond the highest hopes of the builders. In his address Mr. Kwong said it now is the hope of the company that the later ships and particularly the Oriental, launched yesterday, will in like manner show themselves to be super-ships.

PRESENTATION

Mrs. Tseng, who sponsored the new ship, was then presented with a handsome silver cup bearing an inscription setting forth event of the launching and Captain Tseng spoke briefly congratulating the company upon its record of achievement. Tasteful refreshments were served.

The Mandarin, Celestial, Oriental and Cathay, the four cargo vessels that the Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Works contracted to build for the American Shipping Board mark a distinct advance in shipbuilding in China, for they are the largest vessels ever produced in China. The vessels are of 14,750 tons displacement, 429 feet long with 55-foot beam and a depth of 37 feet, 11 and a half inches. The engines being installed will develop 3,000 horse power.

Following its trial trip the Mandarin is now on its way to San Francisco where it will be formally delivered to the American Shipping Board. The work of fitting up the Celestial for its trial is being pushed and it is expected that the Celestial will follow the Mandarin in the next several weeks.

As the shipyard is dependant upon equipment that must be received from the United States the time when the Oriental will be in shape for its trial run cannot be forecasted. It is not thought likely that the Cathay will be ready for launching before June.

Peking, Feb. 22.—The Minister of Finance, Mr. Chow Tze-chi, the Minister of Communications, Mr. Yeh Kung-cho, and Mr. Liang Shih-yi, Manager of the Exchange Bank of China, have jointly requested President Hsu Shih-chang to pardon Mr. Li Shih-hao, ex-Minister of Finance, contending that he is not an Anfuite, but, through his position, was forced to support the Anfuites. They also draw attention to his long and valuable services in the Finance Ministry. The Cabinet is conferring on this matter shortly.

Japan Obdurate In Cable Dispute

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 23.—A New York telegram states that despatches from Washington received there are more hopeful the prospect for a settlement of the dispute with regard to the disposal of ex-German cables. It is understood that France is now in agreement with Great Britain and the United States, but the Japanese delegates, with whom the question of the plant of Yap island is being discussed, state that they are unable to proceed with the negotiations because they have not received instructions from their Government.

DENBY, ONCE IN CUSTOMS HERE, MADE NAVY CHIEF

Harding Names Kin Of Former Consul General To Shanghai

KNOWS FAR EAST

Appointee Lived Many Years In Orient; Brother Here

(Reuter's Service)

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 22.—President-Elect Harding has chosen Mr. Edwin Denby of Michigan to be his Secretary of the Navy.

Edwin Denby, twin brother of Charles Denby, now connected with Gaston, Williams and Wigmore and former United States Consul-General at Shanghai, is well known throughout China as he was connected with the Chinese Customs for ten years, from 1887 to 1897.

The new secretary of the Navy came to China with his father, then Minister to China, was appointed as assistant in the Customs and served in Peking, Tientsin and later in Shanghai. He received the degree of Bachelor of Law from the University of Michigan and has practiced law in Detroit for over 20 years as a member of the firm, Chamberlain, Denby, Webster and Kennedy. He is treasurer of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation and the Denby Motor Truck Company.

The successor to Josephus Daniels attracted country-wide attention soon after the United States declared war on Germany when he enlisted as a private in the United States Marine Corps, later getting a promotion to be sergeant. In the Spanish-American War he served as gunner's mate on the U.S.S. Yosemite.

After going back to the United States from China and taking up the practice of law he became active in politics. He was a member of the Michigan House of Representatives in 1902 and 1903 and served as Congressman from the first Michigan district from 1905 to 1911.

CHICKEN SAVES HIS LIFE, ROUTS MOTHER-IN-LAW

Wuhu Man, Driven Frantic By Arguments, Tries Suicide—Foiled

(Staff Correspondence)

Wuhu, Feb. 22.—There was great excitement here today, growing out of a dispute that arose between a young Chinese and his mother-in-law. The young man, as is usual in such cases, lost out in the argument, but to prove his point and to show his friends that he was right, he decided to commit suicide.

As a means of giving expression to this peculiar form of reasoning he obtained a large, wicked looking butcher knife, and with this he made a bold and vigorous slash across his neck, severing the windpipe and several blood vessels.

Immediately his friends and relatives, to stop the bleeding, caught a young chicken and this, split wide open after the Chinese fashion, was applied to the wound. This had the effect of staunching the blood, the chicken's blood drying and contracting and acting as an antiseptic agent. The man could not speak, as the air passed from his lungs into the chicken's body, through which it was expelled.

His wife hastily arranged to have him taken to the hospital, to see the foreign doctor, and it was fortunate she did so, as some blood had trickled down his wind-pipe and in coughing it out he coughed off the chicken, permitting a violent hemorrhage. Snaps were applied to the bleeding vessels as a temporary remedy, and preparations made for the operation.

As the last stitch was taken in the wind-pipe, the man, who had before been unable to make a sound, began to groan and speak.

In two or three hours he was ready to return home to reap the results of his great victory over his mother-in-law.

REMAND GIVEN IN CRANKE CASE

Defendant Denies Charge Of Obtaining Money By False Pretenses

Thomas Reginald Cranke, charged with obtaining Tls. 1,000 from the Rev. John Darroch by means of false pretenses, and offering worthless documents, relating to property, pleaded not guilty to the charge in the Mixed Court yesterday, the case being remanded for one week and defendent released on $500 shop security.

The case was heard by British Assessor Blackburn and Mr. F. J. Schuhl appeared for the defendant. Detective Inspector Cruickshank, who gave evidence of arrest, stated that the defendant had said a Chinese named Wong had sold the land involved in the documents to him. This man was in Soochow and the police asked a remand in order that a warrant might be issued.

Mr. Schuhl in stating the defense said that the accused is a land broker who was formerly sentenced to three years' imprisonment and had been released three months ago, since when he had been doing a very good business at 3 Szechuen Road. The defense claimed that the fangtan which was given is a proper deed, but it had no stamp upon it, as it should have had before the sale took place. The defense denied the charge. Bail was fixed and the case remanded.

New Ruling Touches Cases Of Foreigners Unrepresented Here

In the Mixed Court report for January Acting Registrar Wainwright states that further instructions have been received regarding cases of unrepresented foreigners and that in future such cases will be brought before the Assessor of the day and he will at his own discretion either hear the case himself or remand it for an Assessor to be appointed ad hoc by the Senior Consul.

In civil cases in which the defendant is a Russian, if both parties are willing to submit to the jurisdiction of the Russian temporary court sitting in the former Russian consulate, the case may be tried by that court, otherwise it will be heard in the Mixed Court by a Chinese Magistrate sitting with a Russian Assessor to be appointed in each case by the Senior Consul.

Seek Abolition Of Mixed Court Here

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Feb. 22.—The Ministry of Justice has decided to ask the Waichiaopu to consult with the Diplomatic Corps regarding the abolition of the Mixed Court and establishment of a special court in Shanghai.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 23.—A New York telegram states that the Uncle Sam Oil Company of New Jersey is suing the Standard Oil Company for £250,000,000 as compensation for oil alleged to have been taken from 436,000 acres of oil lands in Oklahoma, of which the plaintiff claims to have the lease, and which the Standard Oil Company is alleged to have been operating for six years.

Dominions Buy Increasingly Of Empire Products

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 22.—Asked in the House of Commons, by Mr. Clough, whether British goods were suffering from cheaper foreign competition in the Empire, Mr. Kellaway, Secretary to the Department of Overseas Trade, replied that British exports to the markets of the Empire were adversely affected during 1920 by the scarcity of British export coal. There had also been formidable American and Japanese competition, particularly in the case of the cheaper American railway material, motor-cars and tinplate and Japanese textiles and hardware, but these disadvantages had been counter-balanced by our ability to quote a firm price for definite dates of delivery. Severe European competition must shortly be anticipated.

The proportion of British exports sold within the Empire, Mr. Kellaway said, had continuously and gratifyingly increased. Forty percent of our exports went to the Empire's markets during the last quarter of 1920, as compared with thirty-seven percent in 1913.

The export of manufactured goods increased by 537,000,000 francs.

Asquith Absolved By Greenwood In Sinn Fein Dispute

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 22.—The Recorder of Cork has awarded the Corporation £134,250 as compensation for the burning of the City Hall, municipal buildings and Carnegie Free Library in the Sinn Fein fires of December.

London, Feb. 22.—In the House of Commons today, Sir Hamar Greenwood apologised to Mr. Asquith and Mr. Masterman for the implication contained in a speech delivered yesterday that they were concerned in the publication of propaganda in France attacking the Government's Irish policy. He quoted from a letter to the press, purporting to be signed by Mr. Masterman, but said he had since ascertained that neither Mr. Masterman nor the Liberal Publication Department were involved.

London, Feb. 23.—In the House of Commons, Sir Hamar Greenwood admitted that a number of auxiliary cadets attached to the Irish Constabulary had been dismissed by their Commandant, named Crozier, for organised looting. He added that they had been sent back to Ireland, on the advice of General Tudor, Commanding the Irish Constabulary, for trial. Commandant Crozier and a subordinate officer had resigned, and their resignations had been accepted.

Rice Is Smuggled From Pukow, Report

Discussing the question of rice smuggling, the Commissioner of Police, in his report for January, states that there is reason to believe that a good deal of the rice which disappears from this province is shipped from Pukow and its vicinity either by train or in small coasting boats, and in this connection the Shanghai City Magistrate has deemed it necessary to communicate with the Civil Governor. The agitation against dear rice has been strengthened by the formation of a society called the Shanghai-Woosung Rice Stability Association. Prices at the end of January ranged from $8.80 to $9.30 per picul, as compared with $9.40 to $9.80 on the last day of December.

Where Milton is Influenza isn't

Influenz

Tests by the best known bacteriologists in Britain have proved that a teaspoonful of Milton in a tumbler of water (cold, tepid, or warm) will annihilate the Influenza germ at once.

Don't get Influenza

You can avoid it—easily—simply

The germ of Influenza enters the body only through the nose or throat—in no other way. It lodges in the nostrils or the mouth and is swallowed or inhaled into the system.

The Chief Precaution

Add a teaspoonful of MILTON to a tumbler of water (tepid or cold). Use this as a mouth-wash and gargle, and spray some of the mixture up the nostrils. Do this two or three times daily, particularly before breakfast and before meals. Quite simple and not unpleasant, but it keeps Influenza away.

Thousands of people have found complete immunity from "Flu" by using MILTON, even when surrounded by infection. Read the surprising facts in the little panel at foot.

SOLD IN 2 SIZES—8 OUNCES and 20 OUNCES—EACH MAKES GALLONS. Take MILTON in your home. Get it of your Chemist or Grocer. If he does not stock MILTON write Probst, Hanbury & Co. Ltd., 10 Nanking Road, Shanghai.

MILTON
ANTISEPTIC
Does 101 Things
and what is more it DOES them

Milton makes you wonder every time you use it. Its uses are so many and different, and it seems unbelievable that any one preparation can serve so many purposes. Yet, have you ever found it fail to DO whatever we claim for it?

The hundred and one uses are fully described in the Milton Booklet which comes with each bottle. This booklet is more useful in the home than a dictionary.

A Startling Fact

In a department of the Army Sorting Office at the London General Post Office last winter they were losing clerks at the rate of 10 and 12 every day from Influenza. At the worst stage of the epidemic the Q. M. S. heard of MILTON, bought a bottle, and ordered a sprinkling parade. The result startled him and the clerks. Drills from then on, each clerk paraded and greeted with Milton, and from the first day onwards not a single case of Influenza developed, not one single less from "Flu" occurred in the staff. Ask the Q. M. S. about it.

And Another

In several Lancashire cotton mills they started using Milton during the epidemic last winter, mixing it with the water that is usually sprayed by humidifiers through the workrooms to keep the air damp enough for spinning. The results startled the managements. Influenza disappeared from every mill where Milton was used.

LOCAL MERCHANT DONATES FUND FOR SCHOLARSHIP

British Boys In China Benefit By Anonymous Gift

A Shanghai merchant, who prefers to keep his beneficence anonymous, has made a gift of £13,500 in the 6 percent Municipal Sterling Loan of 1920 for the purpose of founding and maintaining two scholarships to be called the "Peace Memorial Scholarships" for the benefit of British boys in China. The chairman and secretary of the Municipal Council have been named trustees of the fund, announcement regarding which is contained in this weeks Municipal Gazette.

The terms of the scholarship provide for triennial examinations—which shall be the matriculation examinations of the University of Hongkong—for scholarships to be awarded, one for Electrical Engineering and-or Synthetic Chemistry, and the other for Practical Farming and-or Horticulture. The total triennial value of the scholarships is to be not more than £1,215, out of which shall be paid a first class passage from China to the country in which the prizeman elects to begin his study. Candidates are required to be British boys of pure white descent, resident at the time of candidacy in China or Hongkong and whose parents, or one of them, shall have resided in China or Hongkong for at least three years.

The first test examinations are to be held in December of the present year and the next in 1924 and so on. Copies of the regulations are to be sent to the headmasters of all British public and private schools in China and Hongkong.

Says New Zealand Does Not Oppose Anglo-Jap Treaty

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 23.—According to the Wellington correspondent of the Times, Mr. W. F. Massey, the New Zealand Premier, says the recent statement by Sir John Findlay, ex-Minister of Justice, that Australia and New Zealand object to the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty, does not represent official opinion.

Mr. Massey added that New Zealand and Australia had a thorough understanding with the Imperial Government in regard to Japanese immigration, and Great Britain recognised the rights of the Dominions to decide who should enter their countries. The correspondent adds that students of the question are of opinion that New Zealand is not opposed to the renewal of the treaty, unless impossible conditions are imposed, as, for example, a demand for equality of treatment, as raised at the Peace Conference, or such an interpretation of the treaty as would make war with America possible.

Hongkong Radio To Wait, Churchill Tells Questioner

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 22.—In the House of Commons today, Colonel John Ward asked whether immediate steps would be taken to construct a high power wireless station in Hongkong, in accordance with the suggestion contained in a despatch from the Government of Hongkong in April, 1919.

Mr. Winston Churchill replied that the Governor of Hongkong had not expressed a desire to proceed with this scheme separately from that of the Imperial Wireless Committee, and it was intended to await his views on the matter before considering further steps.

Colonel Ward asked for an early statement on the subject of representation of the British community on the Legislative Council of Hongkong, with a view to the pressing necessity of representation of the British attitude on the question of slavery and the employment of young children.

Mr. Churchill replied that it had been decided to make no change in the numbers or the mode of selection of the Legislative Council whose present European members were fully able to represent the British attitude on all social questions.

Blood Poisoning
Yet Another Grand Recovery

Our Portrait is of Mr. WILLIAM HARBORNE, of 6, Railway Road, Perry Bar, Birmingham, England, who writes:

"About two years ago I met with rather a bad accident. My arm was cut severely, and I had to have it stitched at the hospital. This caused me six weeks' absence from work, and after resuming my duties for one week I broke out all over my body with huge Boils. Again I went to the Hospital, and was treated for Blood Poisoning; this happened on three successive occasions, until I began to think I should never be cured. Then I gave Clarke's Blood Mixture a trial, and the first bottle or two seemed to be driving out the poison, so I persevered, and after taking ten bottles I was cured. It is now over twelve months since I left off taking your Clarke's Blood Mixture, and I have seen no signs of any further blood disorder."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Pleasant to take and free from anything injurious.

TWO WOMEN HURT IN MOTOR SMASH

Mrs. Linn And Mrs. Carleton Injured As Machines Crash

A motor crash which narrowly missed having fatal consequences, and which did result in the injury of two foreign ladies and the wrecking of one car, occurred early yesterday morning at the junction of Soochow and Szechuen Roads when a machine carrying Japanese passengers ran into and overturned another occupied by Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Linn and Dr. and Mrs. Carleton. The car carrying the Japanese did not remain at the scene of the smash-up, but was found to be from the Dah Tung garage.

The car in which Mr. Linn and his party were travelling was proceeding North along Szechuen Road and as it approached the bridge slowed down to guard against collision with traffic on Soochow Road. The other car, coming from the East, was running at such a high rate of speed that it was impossible for the first machine to stay clear and the rear wheel of the former is believed to have struck its fore part, with such force as to overturn it. Mr. Linn was thrown out but the others had to be extricated from the machine as it lay on its side, the car immediately thereafter taking fire. Mrs. Linn suffered bruises about the face and head and was taken home, while Mrs. Carleton had to be removed to hospital in a passing machine.

The second car was slightly damaged.

Grey Says Pact With Japan Causes Resentment In U.S.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 22.—At a banquet tendered him tonight at the National Liberal Club, Viscount Grey, lately Ambassador to the United States, referred to the subject of Anglo-American relations. He declared that the people of the United States seemed very conscious of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, and discussed the possibility of its involving Great Britain and America in war, but they did not seem aware of the existence of the Anglo-American Arbitration Treaty, which would make such a war impossible if observed.

WUHU NOTES

(Staff Correspondence)

Dr. Chen Wei-ping of Shanghai has recently returned from America where he was a delegate to the general Conference of the Methodist Church. Since his return, he has been holding evangelistic services in Kiukiang, Nanking and other places, and last night opened his evangelistic services in Wuhu.

There were fifteen hundred people inside the building on the Ma Lu to hear him speak and to see the pictures brought from France by Li Gwoh-ling, who was a Y.M.C.A. secretary in that country during the war. There were large crowds on the outside trying to force an entrance, and after breaking down a side gate, one argumentative chap was carried to the Ya-men by the police with a black eye. Dr. Chen goes from here to Nan Chang to conduct meetings in that city.

PORTER WINS FROM BUSH, RETAINS BILLIARD TITLE; WILL PLAY GRAY TONIGHT

Champion Shows All-Around Supremacy In Game Ending, 1,500-1,264; Australian Will Concede Porter 500 Or 600 Points

C. W. Porter retained his title as billiard champion of Shanghai last night when he defeated E. D. Bush in the final of the amateur tournament at the Town Hall, winning by a margin of 236 points in the 1,500-point game. Porter thus wins permanent possession of the beautiful Billiard Association silver trophy, which was presented to the 1921 champ after the game. Captain E. I. M. Barrett made the presentation speech. Bush was presented with a neat silver cup for being the runner-up in the tourney.

Tonight Porter will play George Gray at the Town Hall and he will receive either 500 or 600 points in 1,500. There will be two sessions: at 5:15 o'clock and at 9:15. A record attendance is expected and all reserved seats have been sold. There are plenty of three-dollar and two-dollar seats which are not reserved.

Porter defeated Bush last night by a score of 1,500 to 1,264, but the figures do not give an inkling of the all-around billiard supremacy of Porter. Bush at times played brilliantly, his straight table play often being faultless but Porter did everything well. He was death on losing hazards and played clever straight billiards.

The 1921 Champion who meets George Gray tonight.

NOT A FIERY GAME

The match was not a fiery, wonderful billiard game and it proved that 1,500 points are too many for local amateurs. Six hours is too long a period for fans when the champion is making an average of 7.7 and the challenger 6.6. And Porter's highest break was 56 while the best Bush contributed was 42.

The first session was fascinating because of the struggle between the two men. They quit at 8 o'clock with but 12 points separating them and Bush holding the lead.

After dinner Porter immediately stepped out into the lead and held it until 12 minutes after midnight when he hit his 1,500. The champion played much better billiards during the second session and grew better as the game went on. Before dinner Porter was unusually erratic and despite that he was off his game in both sessions he played wonderful billiards at times after returning from dinner.

PORTER GETS SAFE LEAD

An early break of 48 shot Porter into a safe lead and he was 35 to the fore when Bush reached 700. Porter reached the 800 mark in 25 minutes 49 points to the good. The champ struck 900 by the time Bush had tallied 809 and was 100 ahead soon after 10 o'clock, when the scoreboard read 914 to 814. The next 13 minutes saw him gain 50 and when he passed his 1,000, Bush had 867. At the 1,100 post, Porter led by 209 points and he made 1,220 as Bush was approaching 1,051.

Porter got to 1,282 and made a break of 56, making 48 before he lost his white. When the 13th century was passed, Porter led 1,339 to 1,332.

A break of 38 saw Porter pass his 14th hundred in five hours and 15 minutes with the score—Porter 1,419; Bush 1,162.

Then Porter took a slump and had a troublesome time going out from 1,455. Bush made 87 points while Porter was getting his final 45 and Bush was playing far from will.

Porter was the recipient of hearty congratulations from the billiard officials and fans and Captain Barrett echoed their sentiments when he said: "Mr. Porter deserves the silver trophy. He has proved himself the best billiard player in Shanghai."

AFTERNOON SESSION

The following is a summary of the afternoon session:

Porter was away off his game at times. On three occasions he made four misses in a row, and twice he made five in a row—extraordinary lapses for him. Bush excelled in straight table play while Porter was death on in-offs in the side. Porter took many chances while Bush was conservative and steady.

The table remarkable, every shot getting a fine, true run. It was Burroughs and Watts table with vacuum cushions and was pronounced by experts as the best that had been used in any championship match in Shanghai to date. It was donated by Boyes, Bassett & Co. and set up by G. M. Boyes. The seating arrangements were excellent, with the table in the center of a hollow square.

At the first hundred Bush led, 128 to 100. He had 183 when Porter was 108, and 204 when his opponent was 126. An hour after play started Bush led by 100 points—270 to 170. Fifteen minutes later, however, Porter had cut this lead down to a single point—316 to 315. When Bush was leading. 292 to 234, Porter sandwiched in a trio of good breaks—a 36, then a miss, then a 22 and an 18.

Porter took the lead with a score of 326 to 316, but Bush soon regained it. A few minutes later Porter took it again and led 341 to 339, then Bush passed him by one point. At 355 they were tied. Porter then went into the lead with a 367 to 360. Then Bush regained it—372 to 367. Porter missed and Bush ran 34, to lose the white, then shot a safety, making the score 406 to 376. Porter then ran ten, Bush 5 and then 19, bringing Bush's lead to 431 to 420. Porter then got a nice break of 40—36 off the red and continued billiards—making the score 431 to 420.

At 7 o'clock—an hour and three-quarters after they had started—Bush led by 2 points, 445 to 443. Bush ran 9, 5, 3, 10 and 15 while Porter had four misses. With the score 487 to 444 Bush ran 42, all off the red, bringing his lead to 529 to 449, thus he was 80 ahead after two hours of play a few minutes later Porter ran 30 and when he reached his fifth century he was 75 points behind. At this period they were both playing mediocre billiards. Shortly afterwards Porter ran a 20 and then a 24, when he lost the white. Bush was now 30 points ahead—596 to 566. They passed the 600 mark at 7:45, after two and a half hours' play, during most of this time the play had been very ordinary, but extremely fascinating to the spectators because of the closeness of the battle.

When Porter reached his sixth 100 Bush led by 12 points, his lead having been cut from 80 to 12 in half an hour. When 8 o'clock struck and they quit for dinner the score was 652 to 641 in Bush's favor. Referee Harry Gibson then adjourned the scrap until 9:15.

Nice Run In Home Country Enjoyed By Riders Although Dust Was A Bit Bad

BY DISMAL JIMMY

Another mid-week hunt was held yesterday afternoon. Those who went seemed to enjoy it very much, though there were not so many present as on the last occasion. The hunt was laid by the Indomitable Sparke and a very good hunt it was, all in the home country as being easier of access, and with only one check all the way. Riders found the dust rather bad, and there was rather a lot of grief, but as Ye Scribbler wasn't present, he can't say as much as usual about it, other than that everybody found it a jolly good hunt.

Bee Line caused considerable difficulty, many ponies swerving for the paths and bridges probably due to the dust and sun in the eyes. After Bee Line came Barrier Creek, while Rubicon Creek was crossed near its mouth, which has not been laid for some years. Then after a small check, came the usual run up the Hound Line, hounds being on a very strong scent and thence they ran all the way to the flags, via Spence's Crooked Wade, Moleskin Wade, Yellow Josshouse Line, and then straight back over the Rubicon, by Westward Ho Platform to Suez.

Mr. J. C. Botelho came in first. But as he missed out all the jumps on the Bee Line, he was unable to sustain his claim before the Stewards, and the hunt was awarded to Mr. B. D. F. Beith, on Jock Scott. Mr. H. S. Robinson on Sparrow Grey won the heavyweight prize.

ANOTHER SOUL DEVASTATED

(From the Spring Valley Gazette)

Manager Cassidy of the Hick's park baseball team believes he has unearthed a conspiracy among members of his team to throw the baseball game last Sunday. His suspicions were aroused when he discovered that three of his players had money invested in a baseball pool. The score in Sunday's game was 5 to 0 in favor of the Park team at the end of the fifth inning. Some of the stars commenced playing like amateurs until Princeton secured the lead by scoring six runs in the next two innings. The manager is broken-hearted over the disclosure.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given your physician know of what to your children unless you or it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have frequently prescribed Castoria for common ailments of children with good results."
W. A. CRANDALL, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I find your Castoria is very beneficial in the treatment of children's ailments."
S. DAVIS, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."
WM. J. MCCRANN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I object to what are called patent medicines, where the maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine."

Hongkong And Shanghai Bank

The one hundred and fifth report of the Court of Directors to the proprietors is as follows:

Gentlemen.—The directors have now to submit to you a general statement of the affairs of the Bank, and balance sheet for the year ending December 31, 1920:

The net profits for that period including $3,262,847.20, balance brought forward from last account, after paying all charges, deducting interest paid and due, and making provision for bad and doubtful accounts and contingencies, amount to $12,104,013.50.

During the year an addition of £1,000,000 was made to the sterling reserve, $3,529,411.76 of the silver reserve being employed for that purpose at exchange of 5/8 per dollar. The sterling reserve now stands at £2,500,000.

The Directors recommend the transfer of $2,029,411.76 from the profit and loss account to credit of the silver reserve which will then stand at $21,500,000.

They also recommend writing off Bank premises account the sum of $1,000,000.

After making these transfers, deducting the interim dividend of £3 per share paid on August 9 last, viz.: £360,000 at 3/8=$1,963,636.36, and remuneration to Directors, there remains for appropriation $7,080,965.38, out of which the Directors recommend the payment of final dividend of three pounds sterling per share, viz., £360,000 and a bonus of two pounds sterling per share, viz., £240,000, amounting in all to £600,000 which at 3/2 the rate of the day, will absorb $3,789,473.69.

The balance $3,291,491.69 to be carried to new profit and loss account.

The sterling and other gold securities have been written down to prices ruling on December 31, 1920, and the depreciation in the £1,578,947, 7s. 5d. 5 percent war loan has been provided for out of the current profits of the year.

The sterling equivalents of the various accounts are shown at 3/2 the rate ruling on the last day of the year.

THE CASE OF MRS. STELLA SHAW

"My sallow, wax-like complexion has bcome clear and bright," states Mrs. Stella Shaw, of No 808 Columbia street, Hudson, N. Y., U. S. A. who had suffered for years from anaemia until she found the right tonic.

"I hadn't been well for six years," she says, "following an attack of jaundice. I was tired and without ambition all the time. Whenever I would lie down I had severe dizzy spells and seemed to fill up and choke. My appetite was poor and I had pains across my shoulders.

"I had heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills several years ago and and when I saw them mentioned in a newspaper I procured some and began treatment with them. My condition improved so much after the first bottle that I continued taking the pills until I had regained my strength. I no longer become exhausted easily and have plenty of ambition for my work. My appetite is excellent and the pain across my shoulders has gone. I not only feel like myself again but my color no longer causes people to think I am seriously ill."

Anaemia is another name for thin blood. If unchecked it becomes worse and may end in consumption. But it can be combated by the use of the famous Blood-tonic Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. As the blood becomes rich and red under this treatment the symptoms disappear. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are to be had of all chemists, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai, one bottle for $1.50, six bottles $8.00, post free. Write for the free booklet, "Building up the Blood."

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Standard Oil Now Adding 17 Vessels To Its Trade Fleet

New Jersey Co. Will Secure 225,000 Tons In Near Future; Original Features

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is enlarging its fleet already the largest privately owned one under the American flag, by the construction of vessels in six of the leading American shipyards. Seventeen ships contracted for have an aggregate tonnage in excess of 225,000 tons deadweight. They are being built in four yards on the Atlantic seaboard and two on the Pacific Coast.

Two of the new vessels will be the largest tankers in the world, each of 20,300 tons deadweight. They are to be the John D. Archbold and the William Rockefeller, and are building at the yards of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, with delivery dates tentatively fixed for about August and October 1 next.

Each of these tankers will be 572 feet long and 70 feet beam. Their draft, loaded, will be 30 feet. They will be driven by twin-screw, triple-expansion engines, with Scotch boilers, and will have a speed of 10¾ knots. It is stated by The Lamp, published by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, that not only will these oil carriers set a new record for size, but they will embody a number of radical departures from established practice, made possible by developing a design for one particular trade only, namely, for bringing Mexican crude oil to United States ports. They are expected to be more economical in operation than anything now afloat.

At the Federal Shipbuilding Company's plant on the Newark Meadows, at Kearny, N. J., five tankers each of 15,100 tons deadweight are being built. Their speed on trial will be 11½ knots. A novel feature of these vessels is that the middle portion of each, about half the length of the ship directly midships, was fabricated by the American Bridge Company. These will be the only so-called fabricated ships which the Standard fleet will have.

The Oscar Daniels Company, at Tampa, Fla, has a contract for two of the tankers, of 11,900 tons each. On the Pacific Coast the G. M. Standifer Construction Company is building five, each of 11,790 tons, and at Oakland, Calif., the Moore Shipbuilding Company is constructing three, of 10,100 tons each.

The Sun Shipbuilding Company, at Chester, Pa., has delivered two tankers, each of 10,440 tons, and the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation's plant, at Sparrows Point, Md., has two of 20,000 tons each under way. These latter will carry oil from Mexico down to the west coast of South America, and return with a cargo of iron ore from South America for Sparrows Point.

In addition, a number of barges are being constructed for the Standard Oil Company.

WILL STUDY SHINTO RITUAL

A new association for the study of Shinto rites has been organised under the direction of some officials of the Japan Imperial Household Department. The Association, which was to have been formally opened in the lecture hall of the Kokugakuin Saturday afternoon, is to have as members government officials, Shinto priests, university professors and others interested in the work of the organisation. The purpose is given by one official as "to develop the spirit of the foundation of the Japanese Empire."

Sungala Estate Meeting

An extraordinary general meeting of the Sungala Rubber Estate, Ltd., took place yesterday at the office of secretaries and general managers, Messrs. Cecil Holliday and Co., Ltd. There were present Mr. Holliday, who presided, Dr. C. T. Kew, Mr. A. L. Mancell, Mr. Phillippo, secretary, and a number of Chinese shareholders. The total number of shares represented at the meeting was 3,587.

The secretary having read the notice of the meeting, the chairman said as follows:

"This meeting is a purely formal one. Our legal advisors are of opinion that the special resolution passed at the extraordinary general meeting held on July 5, 1916, and confirmed at the extraordinary general meeting held on July 21, 1916, does not provide for the disposal of any shares not taken up by the shareholders under that special resolution and the object of this meeting is merely to remedy this and empower the directors to dispose of such shares as they may consider it expedient in the interests of the company. I will now put the Resolution to the meeting it being proposed by Dr. C. T. Kew and seconded by Mr. A. H. Mancell."

The resolution which was unanimously passed reads as follows:

"That the increase of capital authorised by the special resolution passed and confirmed on the 5th and 21st days of July, 1916, respectively, be made by the issue of those shares which have not been already taken by the existing shareholders to such persons and in such manner as the directors consider expedient in the interest of the company."

The Crisis In Europe

IS Germany preparing to fight? Or is she preparing to pay? France is in the best position to judge which of these questions should be answered in the affirmative, and there is much evidence that the French believe that Germany will risk another war rather than "enslave herself," as Von Simons puts it, for something over a generation. Several days ago Reuter reported that the French were making military preparations with a view to the enforcement of the indemnity terms agreed upon at the January Conference of the Allies. An official denial was issued next day, but now Reuter again reports that "mysterious military confabulations" are proceeding in Paris, and the same agency brings news of the likelihood of M. Poincare succeeding M. Briand in the premiership because the latter is proving to be too conciliatory in the matter of the collection of this indemnity.

French suspicions are naturally based on the speeches of Von Simons to the effect that Germany "cannot and will not pay," but these suspicions find strong support in other directions. Germany has recently been buying copper in the United States at the rate of 20,000,000 pounds monthly. Her purchases of cotton also have been heavy. And these purchases are necessarily being made for cash, because the United States has not concluded peace with Germany.

Further, there is evidence in Germany of a strong movement for the restoration of the Kaiser. According to The New York Times, the German War Office, under Minister Gessler and General Von Seekt has become an asylum for reaction and junkerdom.

"What may one expect," asks the Berlin correspondent of that well-informed newspaper, "when officers wearing the uniform of the Republic make speeches glorifying William II and demand that the bands play the Prussian royal hymn?" This hymn, the correspondent adds, was played in the various fashionable Berlin restaurants on the night of January 18.

Also there are well-authenticated reports of the spread of this plot to restore the Kaiser. According to the Rote Fahne, the leading Communist organ, the recently organised Prussian "King's Party," in conjunction with the Bavarian "King's Party" and the "Orgesch," hopes to establish a reactionary dictatorship next month.

The communist organ prints, partly in facsimile, elaborate documents detailing the plans, and signed by Ludendorff, Escherich, Reventlow and Vitzthum, which express confidence that this revolt can not fail because the support of the army and military police is certain.

"In all probability," says the introductory circular letter signed by von Witkowski, the business manager of the King's Party, "the coming March will again bring riots by the unemployed; but, if not, our friends must not hesitate to provoke them. Then our time for a general rising will have come, and in Berlin all the Government buildings will be seized."

Other documents detailed the armament methods in operation and named the recruiting centers for many districts throughout Germany.

There is, of course, another phase—the possibility of a Communist uprising. If the Communists gain control, they will throw in their lot with Moscow. The possibility of this, and the French intention to prevent it we discussed yesterday. But the telegram dealing with the Prussian elections, which we publish today, clearly reveals the fact that the present German Government is waning in power. In the elections just held the Opposition has gained seventy-one seats in the Prussian Diet. The Communists alone gained thirty. The government coalition retains only a small majority. In other words both the Reds and the Monarchists scored huge gains.

Faced with this situation, the French "military confabulations" will be better understood. France cannot hold aloof but must fight either an attempted restoration of the Hohenzollerns, or an attempted alliance with Soviet Russia. The great hope in this crisis is that there is a large element among the German masses that is opposed to a return to the monarchy and there is an equally large element that is opposed to Bolshevism. France going in to help put down uprisings of either faction may find a good deal of support even in Germany.

Teaching The Small Girl

By DR. Wm. A. McKEEVER
Professor in the University of Kansas and a Well-Known Educator

"Setting the table can be made just as much of a problem as arithmetic."

"Teach a girl from the beginning to proceed systematically and work methodically and she will soon learn to look upon all appropriate duties assigned her as interesting problems.

"Direct your girl by easy steps in her house helping. Advance from one point to another only after the first has been thoroughly learned. You will thus early train in the habit of self direction and of putting thought into the work undertaken."

"It is practically as much fun for a little girl to set the table for the family as play with her toy dishes, provided you start her right in this happy service pastime and keep the scope of the effort carefully within the grasp of the baby mind."

"My little girls were started at four years of age to helping for five minutes daily about the dining room. I would set the five plates on the dining table with knife, fork, spoon, napkins and drinking glass by each. Then the little one would recite, by counting or noticing carefully one by one what was at each plate.

"Finally, I would remove the service and ask her to place it again in the original manner, and it therefore becomes a problem of her own mind functioning through personal interest. But I take nothing for granted. It is quite as necessary to show the young learner at first how to set the table, how to dry the dishes and how to sweep, as it is to show the beginner every step in the process of working long division in his arithmetic lesson?

Thus I have quoted the statements of a mother as she explained to a club of women how she made housework as interesting to little girls as a kindergarten lesson.

"Indeed," said the woman while the others sat with rapt attention, "it is more than a lesson—it is a delightful performance." It was evident to me that this unpretentious mother had engaged her hearers in an entirely new way of considering the problem of training the girl to help in the home.

Having been herself a kindergarten teacher, she had grasped the full significance of interest and attention in relation to instruction.

It was evident also that the attentive members of the audience here were in the habit of thinking of housework as a form of drudgery which the ordinary girl must learn only with dread and resistance and never with the idea of an interesting personal problem.

The satisfaction of mastery of even simple duties, the charm of doing a thing systematically and well, the possible rhythmatic movement in every day work, the possible poetry of the work in the common household—it seemed for the time being that we had all been caught up in a sort of new heaven of interpretation of what was hitherto regarded as very dull and prosaic.

POLITICAL FORECASTS

The next President of the United States will be considered a fat-head or worse by at least forty percent of the population.

The next Congress will be accused of ignorance, greed and extravagance.

It will be announced four years from now that what we need is a business administration.

Ninety percent of the pre-election promises of candidates will not be fulfilled, but then most of the voters won't remember what they are, anyway.

Taxes will continue high.

Talk will continue cheap.

FROM SIR HENRY LUCY'S DIARY

July 24, 1896.

Yesterday Henry Irving's son was married to Miss Baird, who made her fame on the stage by creating the part of 'Trilby' in the play dramatised from Du Maurier's novel.

Delighted to read in one of the morning papers giving an account of the ceremony how the officiating clergyman "addressed the congregation at considerable length." "At the conclusion of the address," notes the unconscious humorist who supplies the account, the beautiful and stirring "Now thank we all our God!" was sung.

That seems a little hard on the well meaning parson; but it was a very hot day.

The Rhyming Optimist

BY ALINE MICHAELIS

'Tis an age given over to speeding by members of every known class; folks refuse to believe they're succeeding unless they are burning up gas. Time was when old Dobbin could take us if we wanted to drive out in state; now the sight of a buggy would make us lament on our terrible fate. The auto was quite satisfying, or so we believed for a while; but now nothing suits us but flying if we hope to be really in style. So we speed when we're going to meeting, and we haste when we hike to the store, we don't stop to chew when we're eating, and when talking we speed a bit more. Thus with never a moment for pleasure and never a second for play, and never a pausing for leisure, we are speeding along on our way. Oh, it's well to be speedy in going, but it's best to be sure where you go, and tho only A1 way of knowing is to take things a little bit slow. In this era of hustle and hurry it is certain that haste is O. K., but look in the midst of the flurry to see where you stand day by day.

Reventlow, The Fire Eater, Favors Combination Of Monarchy And Soviet For Germany

BY CHARLES J. ROSEBAULT
(New York Times)

I have never had the honor of meeting the Count zu Reventlow, that distinguished Monschenfresser of the haughty days of the German Empire, whose vehement articles in the Junkers' Beloved, alias the Deutsche Zeitung, indicated clearly that the breakfast of his choice would have been an assortment of Allies, done to a turn. That was, of course, until the Americans came into the game and the talk of an accentuated submarine warfare found some opponents within the very walls of Kultur. After that Americans a la fourchette would doubtless have been triple-starred on his menu.

But, if I have not seen the great man, I have at least had the presumption to imagine his appearance. There are, it must be understood, various kinds of Junkers, all of whom are entitled to be considered the genuine article. Ibanez portrayed one sort in "The Four Horse men" who had a penchant for wearing silken kimonos, while he played the piano with exaggerated sentiment, Max Harden raised quite a rumpus in exposing the doings of that type within the sacred circles of the Court. Then there is the hardshell variety that harks back to Thor, rolls its R's like bits of thunder, stamps its mighty feet and snaps its flinty jaws—to the eternal awe of women and children. Hindenburg is an excellent physical exponent of this branch of Junkerdom, although he seems to have less wood in the headpiece than most of them. Finally, there is the hero of the Fraulein, corseted, faultless in dress and manner—according to German standards—who strides through the universe in haughty disdain of all outside his class, pronouncing in accents peculiar to himself the infallible judgments of one who knows all things.

It is in this latter category that I would place zu Reventlow. I can almost see his lordship in one of the aristocratic drawing rooms of Berlin, seated at one end of the omnipresent sofa, his worshipful hostess at the other end. He looks condescendingly upon her as he throws to her inferior intelligence a few gems of thought. His upturned mustache has been drilled to the particular slant which distinguishes a superman from a person. His clothes fit perfectly, that is, a bit snugly to the immaculate Prussian figure. But it is in his accent, the final criterion of Kultur, derived from omniscience and the pure Prussian breeding, that the demigod is revealed. Useless to attempt to define what is beyond the comprehension of ordinary mortals. Sufficient to say that this accent is to the Junker what the thirty-third degree is to the Masonic order. That and the languid manner which masks the steelarmored soul.

JUNKERS' EVIL DAYS

I may be mistaken, of course. A personality like that of Ernst zu Reventlow must have some marked characteristics which would cause a deviation from any type. Possibly their existence would explain the remarkable circumstance that he was not one of the spokesmen at the great gathering of the clans at Hanover recently, when the fire-consuming Count Westarp, leader of the Irreconcilables in Parliament, proclaimed to the world that the Old Order was still to be reckoned with. Apparently there is not the former accord between zu Reventlow and his followers. He is no longer the voice of the Deutsche Zeitung, which may explain why it seemed for a time as though his light had disappeared under the proverbial bushel; but recently it reappeared as brilliant as ever, shining through the columns of his own journal, Der Reichswart, in a typical screech, purporting to reveal a conspiracy between this Government and the Entente against the independence of Mexico. In the best days of the Empire Junker imagination and spite evolved nothing finer.

But it is in an entirely different character that the Count now challenges attention—one which would induce an innocent reader of his words to conclude that he had really broken with his allies of the past and cast himself for a new role which would carry him far from the paths they once trod together. Of course, now that the Junkers have fallen upon evil days it would not be surprising to find them falling out over their failure to keep the spoils which once were theirs; but one must proceed carefully in forming judgments of individuals so far removed from the rest of humanity as the one-time masters of Germany, and when zu Reventlow digs at the Kaiser and his entourage it is well to put on one's specs and weigh carefully each one of his utterances.

It is in a recent issue of the Suddoutsche Monatchefte that he makes his bow as a critic of his old companions. This periodical one of the weightiest and most independent of German publications, gives up the greater part of this issue to his pronouncement, and stars it in big black letters on the cover. "Non-Partisan Thoughts" is his title, and there is no suggestion of blood or thunder—nor even sarcasm in his manner. Rather, were his past unknown, one might believe that here was some old philosopher who had weighed carefully the pros and cons before setting down a single phrase.

MONARCH RALLYING CENTER

At the very outset he takes issue with Westarp and his fire eaters. What once was in Germany will never return as it was. One cannot step twice into the same stream, said the wise Greek, which is the author's way of asserting that the Empire and the Emperor cannot come back. He goes further and says that the monarchists are and have been wasting valuable time in pursuing the theory that after the Republic a restoration of the old Empire was feasible. Moreover, they have hurt themselves and the monarchical cause.

He says frankly that he is convinced that the monarchical form of government is the only one adapted to the German people. Other nations may get along with a President—the French, for instance, with their strong idea of nationalism—but the Germans lack a national backbone and need one that is constant. Such is the monarch, always the rallying center, always drawing together the strength of the nation. But monarchies, whose accepted leaders discredit themselves as did those of Germany in the Fall of 1918, cannot be put back on their feet like upset chairs. The ineradicable memory of the tumble would forever preclude the return of the old faith. The halo has departed forever. The princes were themselves at fault. They did not know how to be leaders. The All-Highest is not spared. In the same breath in which he declares the Government as it was the nearest possible approach to perfection, its faults such as could have been remedied without affecting foundation or structure, he asserts that "the great errors of the years before the war were not attributable to the monarchy, as such; they were due, in great measure, to the monarch himself."

The political parties failed likewise to function as they might have within their powers. The Right—party of the Junkers—failed in statesmanship—in ability to show progress within constitutional limit. The radicals of the Left regarded as progress only what made for destruction. They spoke of synthesis but proceeded as analysts. Fundamentally, says zu Reventlow with a grimness true to type, the most successful analyst is Death!

Junkerdom, New Style

Whatever we Americans think about the advocacy of monarchies in these days, there is unquestionably divided opinion in Europe and, more especially in Germany, where the great days of the empire appear effulgently against the sombre background of present misery. Though the Junkers be anathema in wide circles, the hungry German of the middle and lower classes, tightening his belt and shivering against his empty porcelain stove, has visions of the comfort and plenty of the days of his serfdom. This is the greatest danger of the democracy, and is recognised by liberal minds as threatening a turn to Bolshevism or to reaction, according as the strong man appears in the one camp or the other.

LOOKING FOR STRONG MAN

That a strong man may appear is the prayer of each of the many parties which shriek for a hearing. Our author quotes a Frenchman as writing in 1918: "History is to politics what the hospital is to the physician, and history says that the big soft German mass never was able to stand erect without a support in the form of a man with a heart of bronze. The Germany of Wallenstein and Frederick II. accomplished the superhuman; that of Frederick William III. fell on its knees and cheered the conquering French as they entered Berlin." Peering from the background of zu Reventlow's comments is a strong intimation that the Junkers had better trim ship by throwing overboard the incompetents who ran it on the rocks when last they had the wheel and look about for a new helmsman before their rivals can pick the right man.

The methods proposed by Westarp and his fellows are condemned out of hand. Why fool any longer with the old ideals when they have proven but broken reeds? One must be clever in these days of the proletariat and devise something new. So long as we accomplish our main purpose, the road we travel is of little consequence. The thoughts of yesterday are as dead as the Pharaohs. We must show ourselves able to seize upon the latest mental gymnastics of the political theorists and develop them to our advantage. Of course, zu Reventlow does not say any of this, but it may be picked out of his discourse without straining the context.

And he has himself discovered the path of least resistance. It is no less than a combination of the monarchy and the Soviet!

One can imagine the horror with which this suggestion was received by Junkerdom. The power and influence of some words cannot be appraised easily, and to the privileged of all countries there must be an evil connotation in soviet. It must necessarily recall the plight of the sacrosanct in Russia, once the very citadel of privilege. Nervous barons and counts might easily be moved by it to unpleasant dreams. Cousins in Budapest have had more than a taste of the terror, and in Munich and other cities of the Fatherland itself there have been wild days and nights. And now one of their very own talks of uniting with king-killers and the dregs of the gutter!

NO MONARCHY BY FORCE

But zu Reventlow develops his thought without any trace of heat or excitement, patiently and lengthily, as becomes a thorough and efficient German philosopher enunciating non-partisan politics—with monarchical predilections. Any imaginable form of monarchy in the German of tomorrow, he explains, must have the support of a considerable part of the German people, including the masses, and, especially, the laboring classes. The creation of a monarchy by force through a small, even though powerful, minority, would be a misfortune and could not endure. Every spiritual revolution must be prepared spiritually. The Democrats and Socialists waged a campaign for the revolution through the ideals of republican and international thought with spiritual as well as political methods for forty years. For forty years an increasing number had been moved to fanatical enthusiasm for republics and internationalism and with corresponding hatred for monarchies and militarism, for all that existed of authority in every form. The leaders alleged knowledge to be the goal of the revolution, and used this as a rallying cry, with the more effect that it was made to appear that the monarchy was a reactionary form of state, using its authority solely to deceive and exploit the people and to retard its progress.

The monarchy was forced out, like the Roman Forum, through the influence of pseudo-scientific prophets of liberty and equality, but, as its theory is healthy and genuine, it will return as soon as it is considered intellectually, developed theoretically and propagated openly. It cannot be advanced through political agitations or the Putsch.

Formerly the ballast of the German ship of state was the authority of the empire and of the individual monarchies therein. The republican and international propaganda removed this ballast, the helmsman weakened and lost courage, and the ship foundered. In other words, it was the unripeness of the people which led them to abandon the monarchy instead of acting in time to remove its threatening dangers. For it must be remembered that a monarchy calls for the highest political development of a people, shown in frank submission to admittedly necessary authority.

Now the question is whether the supporters of the monarchy, to whose lack of wisdom in the past was due its failure to develop, realise that they must hereafter proceed upon the foundation of accomplished facts—proceed actually and not merely pretend to do so. Bismarck and the old Kaiser Wilhelm understood how to use the social movements, the necessity of liberality accompanied by relentless maintenance of authority. Had the same policy been pursued by their successors several of the existing radical parties could have been developed in harmony with the Right within the frame of the monarchy, and would thus have frustrated internationalism, which was the chief course of the revolutionary propaganda. But the Right lacked suppleness and a psychological insight into the times. It failed to realise that the old conservative thought and ways, with all their clearness, strength and consistency, showed signs of sclerosis—which disease increases with age.

But all German parties are like rotten trees, observes the Count, and have produced only unwholesome fruit. Hatreds remain undiminished and the Socialists, following their recent failure to dominate at the elections, present the amusing spectacle of a people's party railing at the "blind masses" who failed to support them.

MONARCHICAL SOCIALIST STATE

It is the internationalism of the Socialists which arouses the Count here and there from his philosophic mood. He does not mind radicalism, even in the Communists, provided it is limited strictly to matters German. Apparently he believes that so long as Germans keep away from outsiders they can be kept within bounds, whatever their theories or professions. For the future, he exclaims, the watchwords must be National and Social. In spite of all the disappointments and depressing experiences the hope remains that nationalism may yet prove the foundation for unifying the opposing parties, groups and movements.

A Socialistic state, founded upon nationalism within the frame of a monarchy, would be the salvation of the German future. Not a frivolous equality, as the creators of the revolution and their successors wished to have it. Not at all. The formation of a Socialist state is not so simple and primitive. Words need not engender fear, he assures his friends. A government of specialists, representing different callings, which would obviate the existing system of professional politicians, is a distinct possibility. It must be remembered that the council (equivalent to Soviet) dates back to ancient German custom, and, recreated to meet modern conditions, with representation of all elements—the intellectual as well as the economical—might well be the backbone of a new monarchy.

Bolshevism is not within Reventlow's scheme, it must be understood, any more than the equality doctrine of Socialism. Lest this be misunderstood he expands freely upon the theory that man in general is capable of the higher development. "It would be fortunate," he declares, "if the events of these last years had rooted out the pseudo idea of the progress of humanity. This came out of the Freemasons' kitchen, as did that of liberty and equality, and, especially in German heads, caused actual devastation. It was this faith in the progress of humanity which was one of the causes of the loss of the war. Even as a boy this idea seemed absurd to me and his feeling has strengthened with the years. It is a pity that the use of the word 'humanity' cannot be forbidden in Germany."

In place of such puerile notions he calls for a development of a "well-considered and strongly-felt Kultur," to be limited to Germans. Everything else would follow. But, he adds warningly, only a few Germans understand what Kultur signifies. It is almost invariably interpreted as the equivalent of civilisation, seldom understood as action, becoming a thing dynamic; something that disappears so soon as it is neglected, to revive only when it is again brought into use.

Perhaps, after that his old companions may forgive him. His heart is in the right place when it comes to fundamentals, and an author, who is also a Graf, may be indulged some humors. Anyhow, he doesn't divulge whom he prefers for the headship of his socialist-soviet-monarchy, and many hearts may be stimulated with ambition. The real Junkers were never too loyal to the Hohenzollerns to quarrel with old friends who suggest a new deck and a fresh shuffle.
